Inclement Weather
 There are two circumstances under which a legal school term may include fewer than 174 days and 1,044 hours: the "inclement weather forgiveness" rule; and the "inclement weather make-up days" rule. Both are intended to provide relief in the event of weather conditions which pose a threat to the safety and welfare of students including: (1) excessively cold temperatures; (2) snow and ice storms; and (3) under some conditions, excessively heavy rain.

Statutes Regarding School Calendar
 Minimum school day, school month, school year, defined--reduction of required number of hours and days, when, 160.041.
 Eligibility for state aid, requirements--evaluation correlation of rates and assessed valuation, report, calculation--further requirements--exception, 163.021.
 Board to prepare calendar--minimum term--hour limitation, 171.031.
 Make-up of days lost or canceled--exemption, when--waiver for schools in session twelve months of year, granted when, 171.033.

Inclement weather does NOT include: flooded building as a result of broken water pipes; heat or electrical problems, though they may be the result of weather conditions. Typically, this provision covers weather conditions that will not allow students to reach the building. In extreme cases (Flood of 1993), exemptions may be granted based on 171.033.
